OAK VIEW NATIONAL BANK HIRES NEW LENDING OFFICER AND PLANS OFFICE EXPANSION

Warrenton, VA (July 20, 2010) – Michael A. Ewing, President and CEO of Oak View National Bank, is pleased to announce the hiring of Justin A. McFarland as Vice President, Commercial Loan Officer. Mr. McFarland comes to Oak View National with an extensive lending background and deep roots in the Culpeper, Virginia market. He is a 1999 graduate of the University of Virginia as well as a 2008 graduate of Virginia Banker’s Association School of Bank Management.

In conjunction with this hiring announcement, Mr. Ewing also announced the opening of the bank’s new loan production office in Culpeper, Virginia on August 2, 2010. A Culpeper native, Mr. McFarland will be located in this new office at 206 South Main Street, Suite 302, directly across from the Culpeper post office. Initially, this office will offer a variety of lending services, specializing in financing opportunities for small businesses; other banking services may be added as the local community determines.

“Culpeper is a great community for our style of banking,” stated Mr. Ewing. “We feel that our straightforward and personal approach to banking is what customers look for, and we are excited to have Justin join our organization to help us reach this market.”

Oak View National Bank, with $80 million in assets as of June 30, 2010, is a two-branch bank with offices in Warrenton and Marshall and a loan production office in Culpeper.
